

Don't miss the Division of Developmental Disabilities' Interactive Information Session!

"Life Line for the Journey"

Have you been wondering what the future holds for you and your family member with a developmental disability? At this session you will learn about the different systems that may touch your life, what each has to offer, and what some of the similarities and differences are among them. Come discover what your next steps might be to help your child and your family. Join other families, become empowered and engaged in life's journey!

After attending this session, families have said:

"I finally have begun to form a vision for my child!"

"This was an excellent presentation—I will be sure to share all of this information with other families."
